

Job Description

Job Title:	Lecturer in Policing
School:	Forensic and Applied Sciences
Grade:	H
Responsible to:	Academic Lead for Policing
Responsible for:	Education and research in the area of policing
Job Purpose To contribute to the academic development, course management, teaching, research development and scholarship within the School in the area of Policing.
Main Duties and Responsibilities: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. To make a contribution to achieving the academic objectives in the School through teaching, research and income generating activities2. To act as module leader for a number of identified modules and to teach across modules.3. To undertake administrative duties relevant to module teaching and leadership (e.g. administer course registers, assessment records, learning programmes and other records).4. To engage with the recruitment of students onto courses and to provide appropriate advice on progression and career opportunities.5. To adhere to quality assurance and enhancement systems to ensure high standards are maintained and the student experience is enhanced.6. To contribute to the development of the School's commercial activities, including consultancy, training and funded projects.7. To participate in research as an individual or part of a team8. To develop and consolidate contacts with industry/ employers and other external organisations9. To undertake any other duties relevant to the School's activities and commensurate with the level of the post, as directed by the Head of School.

Person Specification

Job Title:	Lecturer in Policing
School:	School of Forensic and Applied Sciences
Grade:	H

Attributes	Essential	Desirable	Measured by:
Work Experience	Substantial academic or professional experience in the field of policing.	Experience of teaching in a higher education environment	Application form, interview
Education / Qualifications	A PhD or professional experience commensurate in standing to a PhD.	Publications, conference presentations. Formal teaching qualification or Registered Practitioner of Higher Education Academy	Application form
Skills / Abilities	Ability to teach across a wide-ranging Policing curriculum at undergraduate and postgraduate level and the potential to develop teaching that is research-led. A flexible and innovative approach to teaching and learning and research Ability to undertake research/knowledge transfer Ability to work on one's own initiative as well as being part of team IT literate with knowledge of Microsoft PowerPoint and other packages.	A track record of teaching success An ability to contribute to the enhancement of research within the School Ability to supervise dissertations up to PhD level An ability to contribute to commercial activities and income generation Knowledge of current trends in Police education and practice in the UK High level of IT skills in context of e-learning, including Blackboard or equivalent.	Application form, interview and presentation
Personal Details	Excellent presentation and communication skills An understanding of and commitment to the	Active member of relevant professional body as appropriate	Application form, interview

University's values as a framework for decisions, actions and behaviours.

A professional approach to administrative duties.

Willingness and ability to travel and work overseas for short periods at a time.

Willingness and ability to participate in marketing and outreach activities (Open Days, external events, visits to local schools etc.) to inspire interest in Policing.

The flexibility to work occasional evenings, weekends and Bank-holidays.