

Job Description

|   |   |
|---|---|
| Job Title:  | Lecturer in Physiology and Pharmacology           |
| School:   | School of Pharmacy and Biomedical Sciences        |
| Grade:  | Grade H   |
| Responsible to:   | Designated Senior Member of Staff                 |
| Responsible for:  | Undergraduate and postgraduate teaching, research |
| Job Purpose:To play a role in the development, delivery and assessment of biomedical and pharmacy modules, with a focus on physiology and pharmacology, on programmes at undergraduate level. The candidate would also be expected to teach on suitable Postgraduate (Masters level) courses. In addition to teaching, the candidate would be expected to undertake research either in an area related to biomedical or in an Educational area.  |   |
| Main Duties and Responsibilities:<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. To make a contribution to achieving the academic objectives in the School through teaching, research and administrative support.</li><li>2. Develop own teaching materials with assistance and support.</li><li>3. Contribute to the development of module information packs, assignments, examination questions and marking.</li><li>4. Assess student progress and provide feedback.</li><li>5. Attend and contribute to relevant meetings.</li><li>6. Continue to develop own teaching and learning skills.</li><li>7. Contribute to the planning of teaching programmes.</li><li>8. Attend any associated training and development sessions.</li><li>9. To undertake administration in relation to specified teaching responsibilities.</li><li>10. To work to appropriate targets related to teaching and research as set by the Dean of School or theme lead.</li><li>11. To undertake high quality REF-returnable research in a biomedical or bio/medical-educational area.</li><li>12. To undertake any other duties relevant to the School's activities and commensurate with the level of the post, as directed by the Dean of School/designated Senior Member of Staff.</li></ol> |   |

Person Specification

|              |  |
|--------------|--|
| Job Title:   | Lecturer in Physiology and Pharmacology    |
| School:      | School of Pharmacy and Biomedical Sciences |
| Grade:       | Grade H                                    |
| Compiled by: | Colin Davidson                             |

| Attributes               | Essential   | Desirable   | Measured By                              |
|--------------------------|---|---|--|
| Work Experience          | Teaching experience in Biosciences or a closely related area. The ability to teach physiology and/or pharmacology. Research experience in Biosciences | Experience in the supervision of project students. Evidence of external esteem through publications. Teaching or research experience in genetics and, personalised medicine. . Some experience of applying for external funding | Application form Interview |
| Education/Qualifications | BSc in Biomedical Sciences or related area A PhD in Biomedical Sciences, or related area  | Formal teaching qualification (e.g. PGCert) or Associate/Fellow of the Higher Education Academy.   | Application form                  |
| Skills/Abilities         | A sound knowledge/ability to teach biosciences. Ability to teach and supervise at Foundation Degree and BSc level.                                    | Appropriate Information Technology skills  | Application form and Interview    |
| Personal Details         | Good communication skills. Good team worker. Motivated and enthusiastic. Commitment to the University's Mission Statement.              | Evidence of national recognition in specialism. Active member of appropriate Learned Societies.   | Application form and Interview    |